

STATS & CONFERENCE AFFILIATIONS

By Jim Gumm Owner / Editor of THE BLITZ

In this issue of THE BLITZ we list the top offensive players from college football in 2018. We list the top running backs, quarterbacks and wide receivers / tight ends. We rank the running backs in order of total yards, headlined by Wisconsin's super sophomore running back Jonathan Taylor. Ohio State's Dwayne Haskins was the NCAA leader in both passing yards and total touchdown passes. Maybe the biggest surprise stat leader was UMass wide receiver Andy Isabella who led the nation in total receiving yards.

On pages 4 thru 8 we revisit something that we did several years ago. We list the all-time conference affiliations of all 10 current NCAA Division I Football Bowl Subdivision conferences. We follow that up by listing the conference affiliations of the schools themselves.

What is the definition of a new conference and what is the definition of a renamed conference? The Pac-12 is NOT a renamed Pacific Coast Conference. There was an entirely new charter. The Big 12 is NOT a renamed

Big 8 Conference. There was an entirely new charter for that league. However, the American Athletic Conference IS a renamed Big East Conference because the charter is the same. That being said, The Pac-12 "claims" the old PCC records even though technically, they shouldn't while the American Athletic Conference (even though they DO maintain the football records) does not include the Big East football records in their current record book because there was such a large turnover in membership but technically they should. Very confusing!

DIVISION I FBS CONFERENCES ALL-TIME MEMBERSHIP

Below we list all 10 current NCAA Division I Football Bowl Subdivision conferences. It includes the timeline that each conference has sponsored football, then we show the number of football seasons each conference will celebrate in 2019. Next are all of the current football members and how many seasons this will make as far as football competition goes, during the upcoming 2017 season. Finally, we list all of the former football members, with the seasons they competed in each conference. The American Athletic Conference was known as the Big East Conference through 2012 when it was renamed. A new charter was not drawn up, thus the American is not a new league, just renamed. As a point of interest, seven schools (Michigan from the Big Ten, Northern Illinois from the MAC, Marshall from the MAC, Temple from the American, Idaho from the Sun Belt, New Mexico State from the Sun Belt and UAB from Conference USA) actually have two stints of membership in those particular conferences. There will be 6 Independents again this season. Army, Brigham Young, Liberty, New Mexico State, Notre Dame & UMass. FYI, the NCAA Division I FBS will have 130 members again in 2019 as well.

HOW TO READ THIS LIST. We list all 2019 conference members by their timeline and the total number of seasons they will have fielded a team by the time the 2019 season rolls around.

ALL-TIME CONFERENCE AFFILIATIONS OF CURRENT FBS SCHOOLS

On the next four pages we list all 130 schools in the NCAA Division I Football Bowl Subdivision and the football affiliations each has had in their history on the gridiron. Some schools have been affiliated with more than one conference simultaneously and some have been affiliated with conferences in other sports that are different from their football affiliation. Several conferences have changed their official name through-out the years and that can cause some confusion. We have decided to use the more modern and most popular name for this list. An example of this would be Fresno State which is listed as having competed in the Big West from 1969-1991. Originally the Big West was named the Pacific Coast Athletic Association (PCAA) but the league officially changed their name in 1988. So instead of listing Fresno State has having played in both the PCAA 1969-1987 and the Big West 1988-1991, we show that they were in one league from 1969-1991. We have placed an asterisk (*) in front of any conference that has changed it's name at some time.
